STEM Sells

What is STEM education? The acronym 'STEM' stands for Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics. This program was started by Judith A. Ramaley, the former director of the National Science Foundation's education division. This methodology to education is designed to improve the pedagogy of subject areas such as mathematics and science by incorporating technology and engineering into the curriculum.

Gregg Anderson School is the newest school in the Westside Union School District. Gregg Anderson has been designated a "school of choice" by the Westside Board of Trustees, and applications are required for admission. Applications are available on the Westside website, and must be submitted to the District Office by February 10, 2012. Students selected in the lottery will be notified through an email containing an enrollment letter and directions on how to complete and return the information.
